

Arc'teryx Equipment Inc.

A leading designer and manufacturer of innovative high-end technical outdoor equipment and clothing

Pattern Makers – North Vancouver

Arc'teryx is a leading designer and manufacturer of innovative, high-end technical outdoor clothing and equipment, and we have big plans. In the past year, we have gone from 406 employees, to over 480. Our ongoing success stems from an uncompromising passion to continuously challenge, and radically improve, the status quo.

We are seeking two detail oriented Pattern Makers with at least 3 years of pattern making experience. We need one Pattern Maker to work with Apparel, and another Pattern Maker to work with Hardgoods (such as backpacks and climbing harnesses). Working with several internal departments, you will be responsible for the patterning of our high quality products from blocks to sketches.

What we're looking for:

- Relevant post secondary education and a minimum 3 years production pattern making experience
- Ability to work from pattern blocks or from sketches
- Knowledge of garment construction
- Core competence in Microsoft Office
- Effective oral and written communications skills, good interpersonal skills, and strong attention to detail, including accuracy in data entry
- Ability to work independently
- Knowledge of Gerber Accumark and/or outerwear

What you'll be doing:

- Interpreting design intent, creating prototypes, sample and production patterns, ensuring that methods and documentation are consistent with known factory methods and processes
- Grading patterns and maintaining grade on modified production patterns
- Working with design to establish standard fit by product category/end use and ensure product size/fit consistency
- Contributing to the creation and use of block pattern library
- Maintaining computer pattern libraries, ensuring changes are clearly communicated to Product Developers, Graders and Marker Makers
- Collaborating with Designers and Product Developers to establish and document product construction standards and illustrated technical specifications for all product
- Assisting in marker making where required

What's in it for you:

- The opportunity to join a rapidly growing organization
- You can combine where you work with how you play
- You get to play a pivotal position in the development of outdoor clothing and gear
- The ability to work in a fun, casual company that supports and encourages work-life balance We also have plenty of parking, a bike room, nearby transit, an indoor staff bouldering gym, frequent summer BBQs and other events, as well as a great employee discount.

If this sounds like you, then please apply by forwarding your resume and cover letter in PDF or Word format to hr@arcteryx.com. It is important to quote "1108-PM-web" in the subject line of your email. Please also indicate if you prefer to work on Apparel or Hardgoods.

You can expect an email acknowledging the receipt of your submission within 5 days of your initial correspondence.

Thank you in advance for your interest in Arc'teryx.
